Beloved in Christ

When he had said this, as they were watching, he was lifted up, and a cloud took him out of their sight. While he was going and they were gazing up toward heaven, suddenly two men in white robes stood by them. They said, "Men of Galilee, why do you stand looking up toward heaven? This Jesus, who has been taken up from you into heaven, will come in the same way as you saw him go into heaven." (Acts 1:9 -11)

Evangelista Luke is renowned as a careful historian. When he recorded the birth of Jesus he rooted the event in its historical setting within the Roman Empire. He continues that same preciseness at the end of our Lord's earthly ministry by recalling the place of the Ascension - at Bethany. He dates the event - 40 days after the resurrection on Easter Day. He emphases the presence of eyewitnesses - the Ascension took place, he writes "before their very eyes" (Acts 1:9). Yes, the Ascension was a real event of history.

The Ascension must always remain a mystery in the sense that it's beyond the scope of human experience. It takes us into the realm of the Divine nature. It happened very simply and quickly. The Master and his followers were gathered on the slopes of Olivet. When Jesus had delivered his farewell message to the disciples he lifted up his nail-scarred hands in blessing. Then his body commenced to rise supernaturally, and a cloud bore him out of their sight. What a fitting end to his earthly ministry!

It's not surprising that the supernatural should be evident at his departing for it was equally present in his birth and resurrection. Just as in the case of the resurrection, some would deny a literal Ascension because it's considered unscientific. But it must be said that these problems are in the minds of scholars rather than in the hearts of believers. There's the objection that it would be impossible for a body to rise against the law of gravitation but this overlooks the fact that in the resurrection body of Christ higher laws were in operation. Think of an aircraft standing on an airport runway. It weighs many tons and is firmly clamped to the ground by the force of gravity. It can't possibly fly! That is until the power of the jet engines are turned on and the laws of aerodynamics come into their own, proving that there is a force which can overcome gravity. So it was with the Lord Jesus. Just as death and the grave could not hold him when his Father raised him from the dead in a glorified body, so the Earth could not hold him when the time came for him to return to his Father.

Disciples were with eyes uplifted, as St. Luke records the scene so vividly, "gazing into heaven as he went" and all too soon the ascending Saviour disappeared from their sight. Then St. Mark takes up the story. He writes from the viewpoint of our Lord's destination. Through the inspiration given to him we are allowed to share the secrets of heaven itself. Only the Holy Spirit could have revealed the scene to St. Mark: "Jesus was received into heaven, and sat down at the right hand of God" (16:19). What a homecoming! The crown of thorns was changed into a crown of glory! Psalm 24 is a foretelling or anticipation of the grandeur of the spectacle associated with the homecoming of the Son of God. As the conqueror neared the celestial city the heavenly heralds cried out in preparation for his arrival. "Lift up your heads, O you gates; be lifted up you ancient doors, that the King of glory may come in." The proclamation prompts the enquiry, "Who is the Lord of glory?" The reply declares Christ's right to the title, "The Lord strong and mighty, the Lord mighty in battle" (7-10). Yes, Jesus had triumphed over Satan, the world, death and hell. His resurrection and Ascension proved he was the victor: "He is the Lord of glory." The apostle Peter confirms this: "Jesus Christ ... has gone into heaven and is at God's right hand - with angels, authorities and powers in submission to him" (1 Peter 3:22). This proves that he had finished the work of redemption that the Father had given him to do.

St. Luke was a practical person. He tells his readers of the disciples with their eyes straining to catch the last glimpse of the cloud bearing up their Lord. But then they were quickly brought back to reality. It would seem that with their eyes heavenward they didn't notice the two heavenly beings that slipped quietly alongside them until they spoke. "Men of Galilee, why do you stand looking unto heaven? This Jesus, who is taken up from you into heaven, will come back in the same way as you saw him go into heaven" (Acts 1:11). It would be an over-simplification to say that the Lord's Second Coming will be like a film of the Ascension played backwards, to return on the same spot, wearing the same clothes. Although his coming will be in person, it won't be in private: "every eye will see him" (Rev 1:7). He ascended alone but will return in the company of millions of the redeemed from all ages (1 Thess 4:16).

The Ascension testifies to the fact of our Lord's return, "He will come." The disciples weren't told that they themselves would see the coming again of Christ. The time is left open and it's futile and unprofitable to speculate as to when it will happen. Jesus told his disciples that not even he knew the day or the hour when the Son of Man would come (Mark 13:22). But the certainty is there. It gives assurance that God is working his purposes out for his whole creation and that when he is ready, our Lord will return just as surely as he ascended. The all-important, practical call of the Ascension is that we are ready for his return.

Let's rejoice in the witness of the Ascension . We are not to stand idly gazing up into heaven , but rather are called to virtuous faith and action in this world until Christ's return.

In His service

Jose Mathew Achen
