Beloved in Christ,

Preparing for the sermon for the feast of Pentecost, I read thru the Gospel written by St. John in 14:1, Jesus asks His disciples "not to be troubled believe in the Father and also believe in me". In the house of Markose at Jerusalem; the apostles were gloomy. Even though Christ said that His Resurrection, Ascension is for their better the Apostles were Pessimistic. Their world with their teacher and master was over; rather they didn't realize it was just a beginning of an iceberg – a Christian era.

The bible always speaks of optimism. Be optimistic in life-what happens is for the Good from the heavens. We Christians always prefer to be called as optimist. But on the scale of 10 where are we standing. Most of the cases or moments, we are pessimistic. The word of God always converts pessimism to a practical and spiritual optimism. Optimism's poor relative, pessimism, is emerging from the shadows. "Pessimism comes with a deep social 'Nasrani kristyani' stigma". People always prefer to talk to optimistic persons. Rather pessimistic are avoided. Since the pessimistic are not very friendly and sociable.

For Nasrani kristyanees, longtime adherents of the positive-thinking doctrine, pessimism means being a gloomy, dreary, sad-sack loser. But that's not necessarily so. History has proved that successful people often employ pessimism in a strategic way to motivate and prepare themselves for the future,. It's simply not the case that optimism is "good" and pessimism is "bad"—although that's how we've been encouraged to think about them. Rather, both are functional. And both have value.

If both optimism and pessimism are functional, you may be wondering just what it that they do is. "Optimism and pessimism are feelings about the future; they help us manage our expectations and our actions moving forward." This month we will be observing the Apostle's lent. This Lent ends with remembering the two Pillars of Christianity – St. Peter and St. Paul. Jesus entered the closed room where the Apostles were hiding from the people. "in a human voice he said PEACE BE TO YOU" these words encouraged the apostles. On the day of Pentecost they received the Holy Spirit and spoke Different languages of the world. People from each part of the world acknowledged the tongues. Taking cue from the Master they spread the Gospel to different parts of the world.

The disciples were pessimistic but words from the master and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit converted their pessimism to optimism. Psalms 27:1 says The LORD is my light and my salvation — whom shall I fear? The LORD is the stronghold of my life— of whom shall I be afraid? These words spark our thoughts leaving us the only option to think and do well for a better living tomorrow.

Jesus says in his final admonition "homes that invite you (people of God), are inviting me" – during these days let's work together to make it possible.

I also feel happy to congratulate all the students who have passed their board exams. It is necessary to convert the entire pessimistic attitude with prayers to be optimistic. Believe in the work of the Triune God and have faith that whatever happens is for our good.

In His Service with you
Fr. George C. Varughese
